

RUSSIA EAGER FOR TRADE RELATIONS WITH AMERICANS

SOVIET AMBASSADOR MARTENS EXPRESSES NATION'S DE-SIRE TO SENATE PROBE COMMITTEE.

PEACE TALK IS STARTED

Willingness of Russia to Enter Into Peace Agreement With United States Stated on Two Occasions, Martens Asserts.

(By Raymond Clapper.)
By United Press Leased Wire

Washington.—Soviet Russia today asked for opening of trade relations with the United States. The overtures were made by Ludwig C. A. K. Martens, soviet representative, in a statement before the senate foreign relations sub-committee.

Martens promised that any understanding arrived at will be scrupulously observed by his government.

"I want to say that the economic interests of soviet Russia are a sufficiently binding guarantee that such understandings will be observed," Martens stated. "It is in the interest of soviet Russia to establish and maintain economic intercourse between Russia and the United States.
It is clear that any understanding of this or any other character must be kept inviolate by the Russian soviet government, inasmuch as the United States would be free to break off economic relations in case of non-compliance."

This desire to open trade relations,
Martens said, was laid before two American journalists who were in soviet Russia recently and who obtained "specific assurances on this point from Mr. Lenin personally."

One of these men, Martens said, has a signed statement from Lenin offering explicit guarantee that such "soviet government will not interfere with the internal affairs of other countries."

"While up to this date no such agreement had been formally reached and representatives of the United States have continued to interfere in Russian internal affairs," Martens said, "the Russian government on the other hand has acted as if such an agreement had been reached."

Martens said there have already been negotiations between soviet and American representatives with regard to peace.

The soviet government stated its willingness to enter into a binding agreement of mutual non-interference in international affairs at a conference in Stockholm in January, 1919, between a soviet agent named Litvinoff and Secretary Buckler of the American embassy in London, he said. This attitude was re-stated in March, 1919, he asserted.

In all, sixteen peace proposals have been made by the soviet government to the United States and Allied nations, Martens said.

Martens asserted that the American government, acting through Colonel Raymond Robins, cooperated with the soviet government in propaganda against imperial Germany.

Robins was authorized to do this by American Ambassador Francis.
Martens declared. Chairman Moses insisted the proof of this be offered.
"We hope to have Colonel Robins here himself," ex-Senator Hardwick, Martens' counsel, said.

Martens also declared that the committee on public information headed by George Creel, cooperated with the soviet government while the Sisson documents, designed to show
Lenin and Trotsky were paid agents of Germany, were being prepared for issuance by the state department.

SIX MEN SUSPECTED OF SLAYING CHICAGO GUNMAN

Windy City Labor Leader and Accused Murderer Slain Last Night—President of the Street Cleaners is Arrested

By United Press Leased Wire

Chicago.—Charles Carozzo, president of the street cleaners' union, and five other suspects were held by the police here today in connection with the murder of Maurice "Boss" Enright, labor leader and gun man, late yesterday. Tim Murphy, labor leader, was arrested but established an alibi.

Enright was convicted in 1911 of murder but was pardoned by Edward F. Dunne, then governor. He has been connected with the plumber's union as business agent and secretary.

Only last year Enright was wounded in a gun fight following the clash of opposing factions at a meeting of the union.

He was killed as he was driving up to the door of his residence late yesterday. His assailants escaped in an automobile.

Police reserves were rushed into the stock yards and Englewood districts to guard against outbreaks of a labor war. Gunmen adherents of Enright were known to be on the trail of the slayer seeking revenge, police said.

The list of suspects under arrest

On his return from Chicago, I. H.
Bakall brought with him a number of guests who are visiting friends and relatives here. They are Mr. and Mrs. Dave Ressenman, parents of Mrs.
Bakall, Rose Ballen, Jack Ressenman, Jacob Bakall, and Mrs. Louis Ressenman, all of Chicago.

Burning Home Imperils Life Of Young Lady

Miss Grace Hawthorne Rescued With Difficulty From Prospect Street Home—Father Discovers Fire Early This Morning

Fire which nearly cost the life of Miss Grace Hawthorne started at 5:45 o'clock this morning at the home of John Hawthorne, 326 Prospect street.

Mr. Hawthorne is a night watchman at one of the local mills and when he entered the house on his return from work, found smoke pouring out of the basement. His first thought was of his daughter, who was the only occupant of the house and who was asleep upstairs. Groping through the dark, and the dense smoke, he stumbled upon her unconscious form in the hallway. She had awakened and tried to make her escape, but was overcome. Her father dragged her to the bath room at the other end of the hall, closed the door against the smoke and opened a window. She revived somewhat and Mr. Hawthorne hastened below to telephone the fire department.
Feeling practically overcome himself he made his way to the neighbors and summoned aid just as the department arrived.

The fire had broken out in the basement and was working its way up to the second story through a partition. Mr. Hawthorne escorted Chief McGillion to the rear of the house to gain entrance to the basement and his attention was called to the girl, who was still at the upper window. When warned by the chief to come down, she said faintly that she could not. Realizing that both the girl and his men might be overcome, should a rescue be attempted by means of the stairway in the dense smoke, the chief hurried a ladder to the window and Lieut. Whitefoot carried the girl to safety. With Capt. Spielbauer, they took her to the home of a neighbor, and medical aid was summoned at once. The ambulance also was summoned to be in readiness in case her condition proved such that hospital aid was necessary. Aside from the shock and exhaustion, it is said that Miss Hawthorne is unharmed, although she may be confined to her bed for a day or two.

Both water and chemicals were used to extinguish the fire, which gained but little headway. The loss will probably amount to about $500.
The piling of ashes against a wooden partition in the basement is said to have caused a fire.

LITTLE FORMALITY IN TRIAL OF BISBEE DEPORTATION CASES

ONE MAN OBJECTS TO JURY SER-VICE BECAUSE PAY IS NOT EQUAL TO RESPON-SIBILITY

By United Press Leased Wire

Tombstone, Ariz.—The "breeziness" of the west invaded the courtroom here today in the trial of the Bisbee I. W. W. deportation cases.
Examining William Riggs, rancher, for the jury, the prosecution asked:
"Do you believe in strikes?"
"Cowboys don't strike," he said.
"They quit and get out, or some times they pay stops."

Frank Borg, a rancher, was asked if he knew a man named Eastburn.
"I think he was the fellow who jumped me for voting the republican ticket," Borg replied.

Frank J. Brown, janitor, was asked if he knew any reason why he should not serve on the jury.
"I sure do," he said. "The pay isn't enough for the responsibility of the job."

There was little of the musty formality of court proceedings in Judge Pattee's charge to the temporary jurors.

"Now, gentlemen," he said, "I know no man of average intelligence is going to be influenced by gossip, but it's your duty not to talk about this case to anyone. If you see any one talking about it you keep away.
Don't stand around groups that are discussing it."

Nine jurors had been tentatively accepted when court opened today.

BLACK MURDERS FATHER ON "VOODOO DOCTOR'S" ADVICE

Police Extract Confession from Negro Who "Discovered" Father's Body
—Seek Fake Seer

By United Press Leased Wire

Kansas City, Mo.—Tom Bundy, negro, 21, has confessed, police say, that he killed his father, Joe Bundy, with an axe because of a voodoo doctor's revelations.

His mother, he said, went to see the black seer recently to learn the cause of her illness. The voodoo advised her to get rid of her husband as he had brought on a "spell" by boiling herbs and tricking his wife into drinking the brew. Tom said his mother repeated the "revelations" to him adding "if you love your mother you will set rid of your father."

Young Bundy says after striking his father with an axe, he robbed the dying man of $20. Thirty dollars were sent to his sick mother, gave his wife $20 and paid his rent with $18.50 —explaining his sudden affluence as winning in a "policy" game.

Then he "discovered" his father's body, called the police who held him and wrung the confession from him.
Police are looking for the "doctor."

Mr. and Mrs. James Van Roy of Stevens Point, are visiting in the city.

No More Long Debate In The Senate On Pact Ratification

Treaty Must Be Disposed of in Two Weeks to Make Room for Other Legislation

By United Press Leased Wire

Washington, D. C.—Treaty ratification within two weeks after next Monday is the plan of republican leaders of the senate.
They are prepared to adopt cloture
if necessary to bring it about. Democratic assistance in the passage of an amended cloture rule has been promised. The word has gone out that there is to be no repetition of the long debate that marked the treaty's former course through the senate.
The imperative necessity of passing a certain amount of legislation is the reason. Fourteen bills must be enacted by June 30. The railroad bill is coming from the conference in a few days. It must be enacted by March 1, when the railroads go back to their owners.

The republican national convention meets in Chicago June 8. Republican leaders are determined that essential legislation shall be cleared away by June 1 and the adjournment of congress taken. From that time they will have their hands full with campaign affairs.

Senator Lodge is seeking the help of Senator Underwood, one of the foremost advocates of compromise on the democratic side, in his effort to hasten the treaty through. Of course, Lodge seeks ratification with strong reservations, which Hitchcock, democratic leader in the treaty fight, opposes. Lodge is doing all he can to get Underwood elected democratic leader. Underwood and Lodge have daily conferences. Lodge has asked him to get to get Senator Hoke Smith of Georgia to vote for Underwood. Smith holds the deciding vote to break the deadlock between the Hitchcock and Underwood forces.

Hitchcock and Lodge do not cooperate; Underwood and Lodge do. Underwood had a long conference yesterday with Senators Pittman and Gerry, his managers and there is evidence that he intends to bring the leadership question to an issue soon after Hitchcock returns from Nebraska tomorrow.

Will H. Hays, chairman of the republican national committee, is expected today to urge on republican senators the importance of speedy action. Hays comes to meet congressional members of the committee on platforms and policies, an auxiliary of the national committee.

SEDITION LAWS ARE NEEDED, PALMER SAYS

ATTORNEY GENERAL OPPOSES
STERLING AND GRAHAM
BILLS BUT ENDORSES
DAVEY MEASURE

By United Press Leased Wire

Washington.—Sedition legislation is necessary to combat "a condition of revolutionary intent in the country on the part of both aliens and citizens," Attorney General Palmer told the house judiciary committee today.

Palmer, outlining his position on the proposed legislation, supported the Davey bill and opposed the Sterling and Graham bills which have already been rejected by house leaders.
He also answered the arguments of those who oppose all sedition legislation and read extracts from "red" pamphlets threatening revolution and murder of public officials.

Palmer declared "reds" planned acts of violence of July 4, 1918, but that the demonstration was postponed until September, and then changed to a still later date. In every case, he said, the justice department prevented carrying out the plots.

RADICAL PUBLISHER WILL BE SENT BACK TO RUSSIA

Minneapolis Man Who Said Russia Is the Only Place Will Be Given Free Transportation
There.

By United Press Leased Wire

New York.—Alexis Georgians will be a passenger on soviet ark 2, when that vessel sails for red Russia.

Judge J. C. Knox in the federal district court here today decided that the Minneapolis, Minn. radical publisher of the New Times—an alleged anarchistic organ, should be deported under the department of labor order.

The judge dismissed the writ of habeas corpus obtained by Georgians.

In returning his decision, Judge Knox said: "I cannot escape the conclusion that the relator is desirous of seeing a soviet form of government established in the United States."

"His purpose was to aid in fanning the fires of discontent and while he did not believe the time was ripe, he believed in the forcible overthrow, when convenient, of this government."

Among excerpts from Georgian's publication read at the trial were such as this one:

"I don't give a damn for President Wilson. Russia is the only place.
They can't do a thing with me. I'm not a citizen."

LABOR NOT REPRESENTED

posed of representatives of agriculture, industry, commerce, banks,

Labor, it was said, will not be represented at the conference.

FOREIGN MONEY TAKES BIGGEST DROP IN YEARS

BRITISH POUND STERLING DROPS
TO $2.20 ON THE EXCHANGE MARKET IN NEW YORK
TODAY

BRITISH ARE NOT SELLING

Charge That Americans Are Conspiring to Force Down Value of British Money Is Denied—Not Alarming to United States

By United Press Leased Wire

New York.—The greatest single drop demand sterling has taken since the present decline in foreign exchanges began was made today when the British pound opened at $2.27, off 6 1/2 cents from yesterday's close.

Bankers predicted that the bottom has not yet been reached in the slump of foreign moneys in exchange for American dollars, and further declines today were expected.

In the first half hour sterling fell to $2.26 1/2.

Francs checks were 14.82 francs per dollar, off 30 centimes and lire 18.02 per dollar, off 52 centimes.

The German mark fell to a new low record at $0.13.

At the end of the first hour demand sterling was quoted at $2.24.

Collapse in exchange brought trading virtually to a standstill in the forenoon, demand sterling falling to $2.23 1/2. Francs fell 18 centimes more to 15 and lire 13 to 17.15.

Conspiracy Denied

Chicago.—Charges by British financiers carried in news dispatches that American money interests are deliberately causing depreciation of the British pound were ridiculed by bankers here today.

"The English pound is dropping merely because England has nothing to sell to this country," George Reynolds, president of the Continental and Commercial National Bank, said.
"The British should not blame us for lending them money."

Individual bankers are afraid to lend England more money, Reynolds said. The financial situation is in a state of chaos, he declared and congress should do something to relieve the situation.

Chicago.—The pronounced drop in sterling exchange caused grain men with expert orders to rush for cover on the Chicago board of trade
today.

The uncertainty of the money market was reflected in a 1 to 2 cent break in grain futures. Cash bids also fell off.

Washington.—Startling declines in foreign exchange on the New York market, the pound sterling touching $2.20 today, are a logical development of the extravagances being indulged in by the people of Europe and America, according to the view of government financial experts here
today.

There is nothing alarming in the situation for the United States, they believe and in the end the decline may have a good effect by forcing the nations to get back on a normal trade basis. Both Europe and America must get to work and increase production, these experts hold.

The foreign exchange situation will return to normal, it was said, only when imports and exports of all countries come to an approximate balance. For the United States this means a probable reduction in exports and increase of imports, it was indicated.

The situation is explained this way:

During the war all belligerent governments regulated exports and imports so that only commodities needed to carry on the conflict were exchanged. The world went short on hundreds of commodities it consumes in big quantities in peace time.

When the war ended the world commerce restrictions were removed, all countries engaged in a rush to stock up on commodities that were short. Many countries insisted on stocking up by importing these commodities instead of producing them.

The result was that those countries which had such commodities in abundant developed an unheard of rate of export. At the same time they failed to develop their imports in like quantity.

The United States became one of these selling countries. For more than five years this condition has prevailed as far as the United States is concerned. Exports expanded billions in excess of imports.

The world bought in the United States. Other countries did not stop to produce goods in exchange for their purchases. They bought on credit.

Some Americans will suffer a direct financial loss as a result of the downward plunge of exchange yesterday and today. They have been holding francs, lire and pounds sterling to sell at a higher price. When the market began to drop they rushed in all together and tried to sell in order to get out with as slight a loss as possible. Their rush only served to further depress the price.

Today's new record low level,
therefore, does not represent the actual value of foreign exchange, officials here say. It may be months, perhaps years before the foreign exchange rates reach the pre-war levels, officials say. They hope the period of reconstruction will be short.
Its length depends on how soon the world gets back to work, increases production and halts extravagance.

Bradshaw and Kerwin have disappeared. Warrants were issued for them by Judge Dennis W. Sullivan yesterday when they failed to appear for hearing in morals court. Fifty dollar cash bonds, put up for them by Bradshaw, were declared forfeited.

Bradshaw had expressed willingness to relinquish his youthful wife to her former sweetheart.

Seek To Prove Election Costs Paid In Cash

Examination of Witnesses is Intended to Show How Newberry Managers Covered Up Campaign Expenses—Witnesses
Excluded

By United Press Leased Wire

Grand Rapids, Mich.—Examination of witnesses by the government in the Newberry case today was intended to prove that the committee in charge of Senator Newberry's campaign at Detroit headquarters paid its bills in cash. The 125 defendants, charged with election frauds, covered expenditures in that way, the prosecution said.

Three women stenographers at the Detroit headquarters during the 1918 campaign testified that Frank Emery, Detroit committee officer manager, paid them their salaries in currency.

"Mr. Emery paid me my salary from a large box filled with envelopes of currency he took from a vault in the office," testified Sophie Altmann, stenographer.

Oscar B. Marx, former mayor of Detroit testified that Frederick Cody, Newberry's New York manager, had asked the support of the Marx organization in Detroit.

"I told him it could not be done,"
said Marx.

Kathleen Marshall, Detroit, also a stenographer at the Newberry committee headquarters, testified that the account of the committee was kept at the Commonwealth Bank in Detroit in cash placed in a vault.

At court opening today, Judge Sessions ruled that all witnesses for both the government and defense would not be allowed in the courtroom unless called for testimony.

Martin W. Littleton asked that government investigators assisting attorneys be allowed, but this request was not allowed by the court.

Littleton asked for a ruling on interpretation by the court of the federal corrupt practices act. Judge Sessions ruled that he would insist on strict adherence to the sections that make it illegal for a senatorial candidate to spend more than $10, 000. The defense objected to this ruling.

The Newberry committee spent $167,000, according to reports filed, and Attorney Murfin for the defense admitted that this sum did not include many bills paid after the account was filed with the state.

It is expected the government will call in the neighborhood of 50 witnesses to tell of alleged expenditures made by the Newberry committee during the primary and actual election.

The defense objected to this ruling.

There has already been one clash between the revolutionaries and the Japanese, according to advices heretofore received from Khabarovka, far north of Vladivostok. The revolutionaries were fired on by Japanese the message said, but they still hold the town.

Advices from General Graves, American commander in Siberia, indicated the social revolutionaries were disposed to be friendly. Officials here believe this friendliness will be manifested toward the Americans and other troops who are withdrawing from Siberia but that hostility will more likely be shown the Japanese who are arriving in increasing numbers.

In Vladivostok, the revolutionaries have taken over the civil government, but Allied troops are patrolling the streets and order prevails, according to last accounts. Allied intervention in Siberia caused the uprisings of social revolutionists. It was secreted today by a high army officer in daily touch with the Russian situation.

The people of Siberia were "sick of the mucking around of foreign forces" as this officer expressed it and were being constantly harassed by General Semenoff, the cossack leader, so they decided to take over control of the country, he said.

Semenoff, who was appointed commander of the all-Russian forces east of Lake Baikal upon the fall of Kolchak, is said to be hated by the people of Siberia because of his alleged vic-tious and autocratic methods.

The social revolutionists are connected in no way with the bolshevik of interior Russia, according to officials here who daily study the situation. The movement is said to be of a republican nature.

General Gouraud expressed his formal regret.

PRISONERS HIDE TWO DAYS
IN PRISON YARD DUGOUT

Ossining, N. Y.—Federal McDonough and Alfred Friedland, are back in their cells at Sing Sing today, after spending more than 50 hours in a dugout under the prison yard. They had been missing since five o'clock Sunday afternoon when discovered by a squad of guards digging over a hollow sounding part of the yard late yesterday.

The men serving sentences for highway robbery, told the prison officials they hoped to lie in their dugout for two weeks; wait for the "huc and cry" to die down and then slip over the walls and get away.

They had provisions, tinned goods and cigars for about two weeks, in addition to blankets, extra underwear, solidified alcohol for cooking, a frying pan and a hammer and file.

J. G. ROSEBUSH MAY BE CANDIDATE FOR G. O. P. DELEGATE

FORMAL ANNOUNCEMENT OF APPLETON MAN'S CANDIDACY IS EXPECTED IN NEAR FUTURE

Judson G. Rosebush, president of the Patten Paper company, is expected to be a candidate for election as Republican delegate to the national convention in Chicago from the ninth congressional district, according to an article in the Milwaukee Sentinel this morning.

Mr. Rosebush is out of the city today and could not be reached.

The Sentinel story regarding the election of an unopposed delegate to the republican meeting next June is as follows:

Delegate candidates announced on Tuesday gave added strength to the unopposed republican ticket.

James A. Stone of Reedsburg, La-Follette delegate in the last national republican convention, and George H. Gordon of La Crosse, came out as candidates in the seventh district.

"Max Sells of Florence will be a candidate in the ninth district and Judson G. Rosebush of Appleton may be his running mate. Formal announcement of Mr. Rosebush's candidacy is expected to follow a strong non-factional movement to bring him into the field.

"L. K. Baker, presidential elector in the last national election, is a candidate in the eleventh district. Mr. Baker has the backing of Assemblyman John C. Chapple, editor of the Ashland Press.

WANT SPORTSMEN AT FISH AND GAME FEED

GAME REFUGES WILL BE DISCUSSED FROM ALL ANGLES AT MEETING HERE TOMORROW

Game enthusiasts want every sportsman in the city to attend the annual meeting of the Outagamie County Fish and Game Protective association tomorrow evening. A dinner is to take place at seven o'clock at the Briggs' house, and it is to be a game dinner—rabbits and fish, and plenty of embellishments accompanying. The meeting is not limited to members, the officers state. Reservations may be made by any body at the Briggs' house.

"Game Refuges" is the subject that will be presented from all angles at the meeting. W. E. Barber, chairman of the State Conservation commission, and Mark Catlin, president of the state association, will give short talks, and then an open forum will be held from which every fisherman and hunter may profit.

DR. PLANTZ TO AID IN WORK OF UNIFYING M. E. FOUNDATIONS

PRESIDENT OF COLLEGE BACK FROM CHICAGO WHERE HE ATTENDED COMMITTEE MEETING

Dr. Samuel Plantz has returned from Chicago where he spent two days on business connected with Methodist educational and religious work. Yesterday he attended a committee meeting at which recommendations for changes in legislation of the Methodist church were made. These recommendations will be passed upon at the international Methodist conference which will be held at Des Moines in May.

Meetings were held Monday for the purpose of making plans for the extension and unification of Methodist work in independent and tax supported educational institutions. In universities, as for instance the University of Wisconsin, supported by the state, the Methodist church has been active in providing religious inspiration and education to the Methodist students attending. The Methodist foundation is always recognized as a part of the institution, although it is separate from it, and any work which the student may take at the foundation may give him credit. About ninety such foundations have been established in various institutions by the Methodist church. But hitherto the plans have been based on individual effort, and it was the purpose of the meeting held at Chicago to centralize the work and unify it to a greater extent.

In the birth registration area of the United States 1,353,792 infants were born alive in 1917, representing a birth rate of 24.6 to 1000 of population. The total number of deaths in the same time was 776,222, or 14.1 to 1000.

4 SCHOOL DISTRICTS IN CICERO MAY BE CONSOLIDATED SOON

MEETING OF SCHOOL BOARDS AT BLACK CREEK LAST NIGHT TO DISCUSS COOPERATION

The school boards of districts Nos. 2, 3, 6 and joint district No. 1 of the town of Cicero held a conference with A. G. Meating, county superintendent of schools, and F. S. Walsh, advisory instructor, at the Arlington hotel at Black Creek last night for the purpose of discussing the advisability of consolidating.

The advantages to be derived from consolidation and the erection of a new graded school building at a central point were set forth by Mr. Meating. The proposition would include the transportation of the pupils, the most distant of whom would have to be conveyed four miles.

The county superintendent impressed upon the school boards that the one room school does not do justice to pupils for the reason that the teacher is required to teach eight grades and cannot give enough attention to the different classes. The members of the board realized that such was the case and favored the project providing that the transportation would not be too expensive.

The reason for taking up the question at this time was because the school districts will be required to erect new school buildings within the next year or two and the members of the boards feel that if there is to be a consolidation it ought to be brought about at this time.

Members of the boards, almost to a man, favored consolidation and instructed the county superintendent to call meetings in the different districts in order to give the taxpayers an opportunity to be heard. These meetings will be held within the next few weeks and will be attended by the county superintendent and W. E. Larson or A. A. Thompson of Madison, rural school inspectors.

If the consolidation plan is carried out the contract for the transportation of pupils will be let to one person, who will furnish the team, a wagon capable of carrying twenty-five pupils to be provided by the district. Among those who attended

COLUMBUS KNIGHTS DISCUSS FORMS OF CITY GOVERNMENT

TWO HOUR DISCUSSION AT MEETING LAST NIGHT ENLIGHTENS MEMBERS OF ORGANIZATION

Aldermanic and managerial systems of city government were thoroughly discussed at the dinner of Fourth Degree Knights of Columbus members last evening at K. C. hall. For two hours arguments were heard on both sides.

The two main points at issue were whether the commission-manager system gives as full representation, and whether politics would be eliminated if the old form were abandoned. Municipal governments, it was argued, are simply administrative at the best because they are directed by the state, and the representative factor was therefore not of great importance. In answer to the claim that the high taxes of Appleton are due to the present system, some of the members contended that other cities where the tax rate is low this year are under the old form, and it therefore appears as if the administration itself is at fault. If the aldermen gave more time, or if the plan of government would allow them more time, they could do as well as a city manager by engaging experts in the different city departments, it was argued, but it was asserted that "political plums" stood too much in the way of making this possible. No conclusion was reached at the meeting, nor was a straw vote taken, but the men who attended the gathering felt that they had the question near a solution than before.

APPLETON CARDINALS TO PLAY A MENASHA TEAM

Appleton Cardinals, a lightweight local basketball quintet, will play the Menasha Triangles at Neenah armory Thursday night. The locals will use Zussman and Meunster, forwards; Rosenthal, center; and Sell and Bender, captain, at guards.

LINCOLN SCHOOL BOYS FORM WRESTLING TEAM

Lincoln school boys have organized a wrestling team, and are ready to meet any grappleers of equal weight in the city. David Rosenthal is captain of the squad. Teams wishing bouts can make arrangements with him.

The meeting were J. A. Maschinsky, William Thomas, A. G. Brusewitz, Emil Mueller, Fred Litzkow, Frank Schnabl and Guy Daniels.

EDUCATIONAL BONUS LAW IS TO BE EXPLAINED

The Oney Johnston Post of American Legion expects all ex-service men to attend the regular meeting at the armory tomorrow evening, whether members or not. George H. Landgraf, under the educational bonus law, will speak. He will explain the law in detail and will devote special attention to educational opportunities at home for men who cannot attend college. A luncheon will be served at the close of the meeting.

THE ISSUE IN THE NEWBERRY CASE.

It is indicated by his attorney's opening statement that the defense of Senator Newberry to the charge of violating election laws will be that he entered the contest for United States senator at the solicitation of others and not in furtherance of a scheme to attain this honor. The contention in behalf of the 123 men who are on trial with him is that all were actuated by a patriotic purpose to send a loyal American to the senate and to prevent the election of Mr. Ford, whom they considered un-American.

We may assume that these assertions are true for the purpose of discussion. The fact would not, however, alter the still greater fact that Mr. Newberry's election was a purchased election in every sense of that term. It would make no difference whether the money spent for him was spent technically honestly or dishonestly, it would make no difference whether fraud were committed or not, it would make no difference if there were bribery or corruption of any kind. No man could be elected to any office in the state of Michigan by spending from $500,000 to $1,000,000 without having purchased that office.

If it were the purpose of these men to save Michigan's reputation in the war and to contribute to her patriotic representation at Washington, there would have been no better way to substantiate it than to carry on the campaign by a straight-forward, open appeal to the voters by the loyal leaders of the state. If that were the issue, a logical, patriotic call to the voters would have gone much further than money. And it would not have taken money to have secured the call. It does not take in the neighborhood of a million dollars, covertly expended by scores of politicians, to arouse the loyalty of the people. There are always a dependable press and reliable citizens who are above purchase or the use of money in such a situation.

The defense is, on its face, shallow and insincere. The Newberry fund, whoever provided and expended it, was deliberately thrown into the election to win by the use of money. It is impossible from any standpoint to argue that it was not a purchased election. If it turns out that no laws were violated, because of technicalities, that does not excuse or soften the offense. If no wrong has been done in the Michigan senatorial campaign then it would be right to set up as a principle of our representative government that any quantity of money can be used to buy public office, so long as bribery is not practiced. We should set our United States senatorships up on the auction block to be paid for by the highest bidder, by the wealthiest millionaire, or by interests representing the most millions. This is the principle involved in the Michigan case, and it is not in any sense met by the plea entered by Mr. Newberry's attorney.

WHAT DO WE THINK OF AMERICA?

America stands before the world as a great concrete fact. The war has cast a flood of light upon it. America was not discovered in 1492; it was discovered in 1917 and 1918, by the rest of the world and also by ourselves.

America went to war for an ideal. It sent two million men across the sea and was preparing to send two million more, with other millions still in reserve. It raised billions for war purposes with an ease that amazed the world and scarcely touched its resources. It gave hundreds of millions for war beneficence. It organized its industrial facilities into a single machine of incredible powers. It revealed a spiritual capacity for sympathy, self-sacrifice and exalted loyalty of which we ourselves had never dreamed. The war came to an abrupt end when America had only begun to exert its giant strength, while almost unlimited resources were still in reserve. This was the nation which we saw in the light of a dazzling transfiguration only a few short months ago.

Let us not forget the vision, for already it is becoming apparent that this land of ours is infested with swarms of enemies to every ideal for which America stands. Impudently presuming upon the good-natured tolerance which has been so characteristically American, these vicious agitators have gone to almost unbelievable lengths in their attempts to tear down and to disintegrate. Most amazing of all, they have received the encouragement of various so-called "intellectuals" who have sought to obscure with a haze of theory and doctrine the stark question of good and evil.

Let us see things clearly and simply. Let us make no mistake about the meaning of the present disorder. It is not aimed at the correction of our defects; its fundamental purpose is destruction—destruction of our civilization, destruction of our nation and destruction of our ideals.

Two years ago we thought that America was good enough to sacrifice for, to fight for and, if need be, to die for. Do we still think so? Let the line be drawn clearly and sharply and let us take our stand with all the earnestness, alertness and determination that we possess. Let us show by our actions what we really think of America.

MODERN GHOSTS.

Hamlet saw his father's ghost, and talked to it. Some producers of this play, in recent seasons, did not bring the ghost into view of the audience. They said the apparition could not be made convincing, "because people no longer believe in ghosts."

Now, again, the ghost stalks across the stage, and audiences accept it as seriously as did Hamlet.

A great difference is noted between the old and new spirits. The old ones were emotional, and generally were described as spirits of the murdered. They revealed themselves with accompaniment of chain-rattling, blood-chilling shrieks and appeals for vengeance. Too often for ease of mind for those who saw them, they rehearsed in pantomime the terrible events of their mortal taking off.

Modern spirits are not emotional. Commonly they are represented to take a quiet, impersonal interest in their new state, and are quite natural and self-contained, even casual, in their relations with those who yet abide in this material world.

If sometimes they seem a little vague, or even trivial, at least they are much more agreeable company than those which used to shriek, rattle chains and stalk about at midnight.

The Railroad Travel Ad

"Oh, the skinny ones were knobby,
And the fleshy ones were gobby,
And since I gazed upon them, I am sad and I am sobby."

The stranger had a wild, wild look, a wild, wild look had he.
And such the song the stranger sang, the stranger sang to me.
He sang it in a wailing voice and in a minor key,
As one who has pursued a dream, a dream which may not be.

Then said I to the stranger-man, "What means your mystic tune?
Is there a symbol in your song, a riddle in your rune?
Or are you brother to the nut and smitten of the moon?
Again I heard his bitter wail, again I heard him croon."

"Oh, the skinny ones were knobby,
And the fleshy ones were gobby,
And since I gazed upon them, I am sad and I am sobby."

"Believe not I am mouthy and believe not I am mad;
But I am one betrayed!—and by the Railroad Travel Ad
I have journeyed from Morocco to the realm of the Mikado,
I have sought the Riviera and the sands of Coronado.

At Palm Beach and at Petersburg, I've scouted and I've sported,
And at Coney I have Conered and at Newport I've Newported.
But never, never have I seen, or shall see, (it is fated!)
A maiden in a bathing suit as she is illustrated.
For the skinny ones are knobby,
And the fleshy ones were gobby,

"Oh, ever in the picture-ads, she looks a perfect peach.
As she tints on the diving-board or toils upon the beach.
The zephyrs kiss her love-locks and they flaunt her scanty skirt,
And oh, she wears such fetching clothes, but not enough to hurt."

But when you see her bathing with her draggled hair and hose,
And all the redness of her lip translated to her nose,
Oh, then you know your quest is dead, and know why I am sad,
And know I am the victim of the Railroad Travel Ad.
"Oh, the skinny ones were knobby,
And the fleshy ones were gobby,
And since I gazed upon them, I am sad and I am sobby."

Morrison, Disguised As a Bandit, Comes to the Rescue, I Learn

"Where have they gone? What has become of them?" I cried.

"Probably the unexpected has happened this time," said my husband. "They have escaped, my dear, or they have been released. Beastly luck to miss them."

"Beastly!" I repeated.

"But I must admit that I'm enthralled with my new quarters as compared to the rat-infested hole we have just abandoned, my love. The prospect is better too."

"It looks to me as if you and I might have to stay here quite a little while," said I. "But we'll be comfortable, I assure you, for a time. They have left a hard loaf—and some cheese—and claret. I notice. Thank goodness the party wasn't rescued—before I fell for that trap. Bob! Just think. Never to know—all my life—what had become of you!"

I reached out a clinging hand. It seemed as if we never could stop exclaiming over our wonderful good fortune, but at last we grew practical and my husband explained how he happened to be shut up in the dungeon.

"An attack was made on the hacienda of a gang of Mexican outlaws, he exclaimed. 'They demanded two ranchers, two Americans, who were good for an enormous ransom. They claimed that they were the original and only owners of the two Americans, by right of capture. They claimed that some government soldiers had filched their captives and shut them up in the hacienda and they had come to get them back. My dear Jane, they gave the inhabitants of the hacienda a mighty stiff scare, I can tell you. But they didn't get the Americans.'"

"Spence and Archer!" I exclaimed. "Those two men are certainly in luck! They were safe enough in the secret chamber. I can tell you!"

"And for once, in spite of your good intentions, a little out of luck, my dear. Who do you suppose was the leading bandit?"

I named the chief of all the Mexican brigands.

"Wrong. 'Twas our old and honored friend, Morrison!"

"The detective?" I gasped.

"Sure thing," Bob asserted. Morrison! Forever on the job! Leading his own men. His bandits were a camouflage, you see."

"His own men—disguised as outlaws!" I broke in. "Americans—all of them. Coming to the rescue of Spence and Archer!"

"And incidentally, to the rescue of the Lorrimer family, my dear. I had a word with Morrison. On the side. There isn't much happening in Mexico at the present moment that he doesn't know about. He has a little secret service bureau that is a peach. He had all the details about Jordan and Gene—down to their mock trial and sentence to death. He was awfully worried, for Mexican brigands have lately murdered two Americans not far from here."

"Archer and Spence would certainly have been shot if I hadn't rescued them. It's too dreadful!"

"It's meant to be dreadful, my love. Who ever wants to stir up trouble between the United States and Mexico is playing big trumps. Just now, Morrison knows. He decided that the revolutionists mustn't have a chance, so he raided the hacienda with his gang—as freebooters. It was a grand bluff. As soon as he had drawn off his forces—defeated for a time—the powers that rule, hereabouts, trapped me."

"How, Bob?"

"How? You ask how? In the obvious way! That sly little maid of yours was sent to me to say that you had been found—that you had been hurt by a fall into a cellar—that you were calling for me!"

"Bob! How are we ever going to get away from this place?"

Bob looked around as if he thought the walls had ears. Then he whispered:

"Morrison will look out for that. He's coming back in a few days with a small army of his imitation scoundrels!"

STATE PRESS COMMENT

The owners of the Green Bay Gazette a few days ago purchased the Appleton Post and now comes the further announcement of the purchase and consolidation of the Appleton Post-Crescent. This means that Appleton is to have one big paper, and both the advertisers and readers will profit thereby. The advertisers because they will be able to reach every section of Outagamie county through the consolidated paper, and the readers because of the increased facilities for securing news, and the fact that the territory is not curtailed as was the case with two newspapers pulling against each other. Green Bay has a fine newspaper and now Appleton is assured of a publication equally as good. The advertiser will pay more for his advertising in the Post, it is true, than before the consolidation, but he does not have to place it in another paper and this is where he makes an actual saving. Where a newspaper is run on a high plane, the city is better off with one, for a restricted territory cheapens a newspaper. —Sheboygan Press.

The owners of the Press-Gazette of Green Bay have purchased and consolidated the two daily newspapers in Appleton, the Post and Crescent, under the name Post-Crescent and are now issuing a merged publication. The new publishers already announce many improvements and an enlarged news service and will issue a metropolitan paper in every respect. If the success of the Press-Gazette at Green Bay is a criterion and we believe it is, the Appleton public may set their anticipations high. Consolidation of newspapers is now the rule in cities like Appleton and the people and business interests are the great beneficiaries. The Eagle-Star congratulates the latter upon the notable newspaper change in that city. —Marquette Eagle-Star.

The consolidation of the two daily papers at Appleton is in keeping with the trend of the times. Experience has shown that a small city is better served by one strong daily paper than by having the patronage divided between two or more papers, making it necessary for all to scrape and economize in order to make ends meet. —Oshkosh Northwestern.

The state press will miss Tom Reid, dean of the editors of daily newspapers in Wisconsin, who has retired from the editorship and control of the Appleton Post. Br'er Reid has been a figure in Wisconsin journalism and politics for longer than most newspaper men can remember. And no one has ever been allowed to doubt what was doing the thinking on his paper or what those thoughts were. To fellow newspaper men, he never was and never can be anything but "Tom Reid," and many have received their first recognition in the little column in which with a discerning eye he has set forth the pungent comment of other papers.

Announcement that The Post passed to the control of those in charge of The Green Bay Press-Gazette is a guarantee that it will be ably edited, with the high aim of service to its community and state and independence in politics. —Milwaukee Journal.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Wednesday, Feb. 6, 1895.

Mrs. Little entertained ladies at a "coffee" the day previous in honor of her mother and her sister, Mrs. Pettibone of Fond du Lac.

President P. H. Ryan and Secretary W. S. Patterson of the Wisconsin Master Plumbers association, went to Madison to urge the passage of a salitary plumbing bill then before the legislature.

It was expected that the new steam engine for the Citizens Electric Light & Power Co. would be ready to start the next Monday.

A letter was received from Rev. F. C. Haddock of Middletown, Conn., saying that he had organized a Young Men's Sunday Evening Club in his church after the Appleton fashion.

Forty-eight players joined in the fourth skat tournament at Harmonie hall the evening previous, prizes being won in the following order: Julius Wait, John Pingel, J. Jacoby, Charles Schultz, F. C. Hartung.

Thos. Ward, a grocer on Appleton street, was stricken with paralysis, but his physician thought he would recover.

About $50,000 in taxes had been collected and about $125,000 remainder for collection.

C. W. Brown was expecting to purchase the paper supply business of Arthur Ramsay, who was planning to return to his former home in England.

At a meeting of the West End Club with the Misses O'Keefe the day previous, prizes were won by Miss Attie Baer and Mr. T. A. Willy. The Munch Brewing Co., the day previous, made its first brewing of beer in the rebuilt plant following the fire of some time previous.

M. Clifford, the drygoods dealer of Stevens Point, formerly of Appleton, made an assignment for the benefit of creditors.

THE PEOPLE'S FORUM

The Post-Crescent welcomes communications to this column but all letters must be signed. No attention will be given to anonymous communications and they must be limited to 400 words in length.

Something is whispering breezes to the public which echo: "Prepare your competency to act intelligently in your own behalf and for the public equally." Problems and questions of personal and public concern are before us now which public intelligence must be the curative for.

An improporionate high cost of living prevails and the curative medium will be careful sifting of conditions, and too, when the conditions are near enough to the public to master the situation, and it acts, it is sure that activities are begun.

We understand that general liberal prices make prosperous times but these must be legitimately proportioned.

Personal greed and selfishness are the factors that must be fought and will usually be found within combinations of capital and excessive shrewd management, the public passing meantime, leisurely with hands in the pocket.

We have among other matters a very strenuous sugar situation. The public has been baffled and kept guessing and the outlook is that high prices will continue for another year and that a possible thirty cent mark may be reached. Two additional sugar industries are contemplated near us but unlooked for things may occur and neither ever manufacture sugar.

With farm help more scarce than ever in history, the Menominee River sugar company will write no more half acre contracts, nothing less than one acre pieces of land. This is the first easy means of restricting production. If the sugar manufacturers would place the preferable varieties of sugar beet seed for sale on the general market, so that any farmer could grow without contract, such amounts as he would be able to care for, and at harvest time the beets he received at the shipping place as any other crop and if fair prices are paid the acreage probably might be increased. Meantime if the company desired to solicit large acreage plots under contract labor plans that would be their business.

It has been a drive, step by step, all the way with the sugar manufacturing companies. The prices formerly paid by them for beets scarcely paid the cost of growing. The price was fought by farmer organizations and finally raised. Recently a little sugar at wholesale prices was allowed to growers of one acre or more and the balance of the sugar he controlled so that excessive prices have necessarily been paid by consumers.

There is no reason why any necessity of life should be permitted to be controlled beyond a legitimately liberal profit to manufacturers, and then any person desiring a greater quantity than the consumer procures for his immediate use should be available, depending upon just what the extent of the business is, but a carload of anything to anyone is a reasonable wholesale business.

The fact that the beet sugar manufacturers have made it possible that the public be compelled to pay an unreasonable price for sugar, compared with the price paid the grower for beets, is sufficient evidence for now compelling them to sell sugar at wholesale to any purchaser in carload lots from the factory. The public must get in its order and if the manufacturer puts anything in the way to make it less possible than necessary to get the sugar crop equally distributed, then prosecution is in order.

This matter had gone far enough and the public should be sufficiently aroused to act for its own protection, and a united movement should be begun by the consuming public without unnecessary delay or the public will be suffering for sugar while it lies around stored for control of price, in my opinion.

The High Cost of Sickness—V.

How to Deal With Cough.

It is a great mistake to take medicine for a cough. Medicine which stops a cough is accountable for many disasters. A child develops ordinary coryza, or "cold in the head." The child coughs a great deal, especially at night, grows quite feverish; looks to mama for all the world like pneumonia or something. Feed that child most any store cough medicine; the inevitable narcotic, be it opium, morphine, heroin, cannabis indica, chloroform or whatnot, dulls the child's senses; the child falls, then, to cough up secretions; the infection travels downward; presently your dope has converted a slight illness into a serious bronchitis or pneumonia.

A man develops an elephant cough. Stops at the store and lets the druggist's devil advise him what is best for it. Takes the dope. Cough knocked out after a few days. Medicine all gone. Cough now returns. What will he do—try another bottle of the dope, or go to bed and send for the doctor? Well, you never can tell what he will do. It's his cough.

If the old women were genuine grandmas they would be ashamed to send Johnny to the store after cough medicine. They would prepare medicine at home, as real grandmothers have always done.

This home made cough medicine may not be a sure-fire cure-all, such as the druggist product purports to be. But we can say this for real grandmother's cough medicine—it never does any harm.

Any one who knows anything of the action of drugs, both their immediate and remote effects, knows perfectly well that no drug or combination of drugs ever cures a disease of which cough is a symptom; and that no drug or combination of drugs ever "breaks up a cold."

I do not offer a new cough cure. I am giving here the formula of a harmless remedy which after softens, loosens and thereby eases a cough, from any acute respiratory infection (including influenza). This formula will not do any harm even if a child swallows the whole of the medicine by mistake:

Sodium citrate 1 ounce
Glycerin 1 ounce
Lemon juice of one lemon 4 drops
Oil of peppermint 4 drops Whole flaxseeds 1 teaspoonful Water 1 pint
Steep (do not boil) the flaxseeds in the water for twenty minutes.

Strain. Add the other ingredients. Give an adult a tablespoonful, give a child a teaspoonful, every hour or two.

The citrate, besides being a sedative expectorant, is a gentle stimulant of elimination through the kidneys, bowels and skin. It is also an alkali, opposing the tendency to acidosis or acid intoxication which accompanies many feverish respiratory infections particularly in children. If people are determined to treat themselves instead of consulting a physician they should confine their experiment to comparatively harmless remedies.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.
Diet of Three-Year-Old Child.

What should a three-year-old child eat? Is coffee harmful? (Mrs. D. E. B.)

ANSWER—Never less than one pint of fresh, raw milk (or pasteurized as second choice) every day.

Breakfast: Three or four heaping tablespoonfuls of home-cooked cereal—cooked three hours, or over night; with cream or milk and a teaspoonful of sugar, preferably brown sugar. A soft boiled or poached egg. Bread and butter.

Lunch: 10:30 a. m.: Cup of milk and a cracker or cookie.

Dinner: 1 p. m.: Beef, mutton or chicken soup, with barley or rice.

Some lamb, roast beef, chicken or crisp bacon. Baked or mashed potatoes with gravy or butter. Any fresh or green vegetables, well cooked and put through the colander.

Any cooked fruit, such as baked or stewed apple, canned fruit without skins or seeds.

Supper: Rice or whole (seed) wheat or rolled oats, cooked three hours or longer. Milk. Cracker or cookie.

Let the child have all the cold water desired at any meal.

No child should be allowed to leave the table in less than twenty minutes, whether he eats or mopes.

No child under sixteen should be given tea or coffee, and even cocoa should not be given until the twelfth year. (These beverages, wholesome enough for most adults, are nerve stimulants, and a child does not require such stimulation.)

Gosh, Girls, I Wish I Knew.
Could you tell me something that will restore gray hair to its original color, something that is not a stain or dye? I am only twenty-seven, and that isn't old enough to turn gray. (Marie.)

ANSWER—Marie, if I knew, believe me I'd use a couple of quarts every morning. There is no such restorative. I know no valid objection to dyeing the hair, yet I cannot recommend dye, because at best they are not very satisfactory. A good hair dresser or barber of long experience can do a pretty fair job of dyeing.

One of the most brilliant functions of the season will be held next Sunday evening, when Zionists of Appleton district will hold a social community dance at Odd Fellow hall, following the Bar Mitzvah of Edward Bahcall, which occurs in the afternoon. As an indication of the prominence of the affair, it is announced that guests will come here from all the larger Wisconsin cities in this section and from Chicago. Schell's orchestra is to furnish the music. Elaborate decorations will be carried out for the event.

"MONDA ROSE" IS $60,000
SHORT ON HER ACCOUNTS

By United Press Leased Wire
Chicago—"Monda Rose," Chicago's butterfly cashier, otherwise known as Rose Schweiburg, will face charges of embezzlement of approximately $60,000 when she is brought back from Winnipeg, accountants auditing her books estimated today.
Charles M. Phelps, attorney for the Biehl and Sifferman Leather Company, victims of the alleged defalcations, said Miss Schweiburg's bookkeeping was "very crude." She obtained the money, he said, by writing checks and neglecting to record them.

SKAT ONKLEN WILL TRIP TO MILWAUKEE SUNDAY

Posters have been received in local sporting centers announcing the winter tournament of the Wisconsin Skat League, which takes place next Sunday at Milwaukee. A number of Appleton players plan to attend. Prizes to the amount of $4,000 will be awarded this year.

KNOWLES-SPIKER NUPTIALS ARE DELAYED FIVE DAYS

In the Meantime English Girl Will Remain at Home of Friend—State Law Spoils Plans

By United Press Leased Wire

Fall River, Mass.—The motherly arm of Mrs. William Battersby is to guard Miss Emily Knowles from any local tangle that might complicate further the troubles of the English girl who is the mother of the baby son of Perley Spiker, American aviator and the fiancée of Spiker's brother, Guy.

Mrs. Battersby, into whose care Miss Knowles was temporarily entrusted by immigration authorities, declared today that the girl will not be permitted to leave her home until she is safely married to Guy Spiker. She added that the ceremony must be performed in her presence.

After the marriage plans of Guy Spiker and Miss Knowles had been knocked out of joint late yesterday by the Massachusetts law that forbids a marriage until after five days have elapsed after the intention to marry is filed, Spiker left last night for Baltimore.

He was accompanied by Mrs. Perley Spiker, wife of the father of Miss Knowles' baby. Spiker and Miss Knowles filed their application for a marriage license late yesterday. Spiker bade Miss Knowles an affectionate goodbye. Just before he boarded the train, he took the girl in his arms and kissed her for the first time, so far as interested spectators knew. Mrs. Spiker also embraced and kissed the girl goodbye.

270,724 Prescriptions By America's Most Eminent Physicians

Here is the real reason the better physicians give you a prescription to be filled at a drug store. The better physicians realize it is not within their province to attempt this tremendous, yet exacting work of filling prescriptions.

Infinite care, time and research are required, long professional experience that only a pharmacist has—and then, too, hundreds of rare and costly drugs, tested for strength and purity must always be at hand for every prescription.

25 Against 996

Some physicians who fill prescriptions may possibly have 25 remedies—yet the Pharmacopoeia and the National Formulary recognize 996 drugs, chemicals and preparations as necessary.

Thus you can understand why the better physicians and surgeons rarely attempt to fill a prescription. They recognize that the state registered pharmacist alone has the experience, facilities and stocks of drugs and the only profession licensed by the State to fill prescriptions is the druggist.

Tasks Well Done The man we honor is the man who does his work well. Whether he is a farmer, a lawyer, a laborer, mechanic, physician or druggist, he has all he can ever do to reach the top in his chosen work. When he scuttles his efforts, his REAL work and his side line work both suffer.

A Physician for Illness

A Lawyer for Law

A Druggist for Prescriptions

This you will find is the safe and saving way.

Our Number

This store probably excels in filling prescriptions. These figures, 270,724, are the prescriptions filled by the state licensed pharmacists of our prescription department. They show the favor and confidence given us. No matter where your prescription comes from—doctor or dentist—this store guarantees that it will be accurately and scientifically filled—and only the purest drugs of full required strength will be used.

HERBERT HOOVER IS NOT SATISFIED WITH DOMINANT PARTIES

FORMER FOOD DICTATOR WOULD TAKE PRESIDENTIAL NOMINATION ON HIS PLATFORM

By Harry B. Hunt
(Special to The Post-Crescent)
Washington.—How does Herbert Hoover stand on the campaign being waged by his friends to make him a candidate for president?

Dos he wish to run—is he a candidate? If so, does he wish to run as a Democrat, as a Republican or as an Independent?

As a candidate, will Hoover subscribe to and run on whatever platform the organization leaders of the party nominating him bring out of convention?

These are questions uppermost not only in the minds of party leaders here, whose campaign plans have been knocked galley-west by the impetus of the Hoover boom, but in the mind of every individual who is following political development even casually.

I can answer some of them. Not on guesswork or "dope," not even on the views of "close associates" and "intimate" friends, but out of Hoover's own mouth. To get to the answers, I will summarize them first, before proceeding to quote Hoover, as follows:

Hoover is not actively a candidate, but will stand for election on a progressive, human platform if such is brought forward by any party and Hoover's leadership demanded.

He does not wish to run as a Republican under the present machine organization of that party or on any platforms and policies of the Republican from that party under its present control.

Neither will he accept the Democratic nomination unless influences now dominant within that party are subordinated and a forward-looking, human platform evolved which he believes can win the approval of the rank and file of voters irrespective of former political affiliations.

While not seeking the formation of any third party, or now furthering any division in the ranks of the two dominant old parties, Hoover would accept the leadership of such a third party on a program of his own choosing, if, as now seems probable, the platforms and policies of the Republicans and Democrats deal in the same old issues, with the same old platitudes, that have marked them in the past.

"There is no doubt," Hoover told me, "but that there is tremendous dissatisfaction with both the old parties, both in their present leadership and in their policies."

"There is a new spirit stirring in the average man, new hopes, new desires and new ambitions both for himself and for his country. But in the present control of the Republican and Democratic parties the best hope for advancement. Both are talking the same old policies, the same old platforms to capital and labor, high and low tariff, patriotism and Americanism—all in broad generalities."

"Neither party is advancing any definite, concrete program that promises to meet the hopes and desires and needs of the average man. The old machines, the old organizations, are still in control. The old, narrow political ideals still dominate."

"The result is that the people—the rank and file of voters in both parties are casting about for some men outside the circle of organization leaders, on whom they can unite and in whom they see hope for a more modern, progressive, human leadership."

"Just now I am catching the result of that storm. That, however, I believe, is only a passing phase. The storm itself, though, is not a passing one. The area of disturbance is too great, the elements involved too powerful. The result, I believe, will be that unless the two old parties get out of the ruts in which they are now moving it is inevitable that the progressive elements in both of them will unite behind some new leader. And I believe it to be wholly within the possibilities that, if the old parties pursue their present course, with their present narrow outlook, a new party might emerge which, on a platform of some 25 or 30 years ago, would have the fundamental needs and aspirations of the American people today, could sweep the country."

"The trouble with both Republicans and Democrats—with both Roosevelt and Wilson—is that they have tried to impose policies and programs from the top. They have tried to superimpose their own views and theories on the country. What America must have is a program springing from the ground from human fundamentals. Nothing else will meet the nation's needs or satisfy her people's desires."

From which it may be deduced that Hoover is not seriously fishing, in either Democratic or Republican pond. He will not "bait his hook" to "quit the appetites of those in either party." If they want to pull their bait out, they will have to swallow what he himself chooses to put on the hook. Either party can have Hoover as its candidate if it will nominate him on a platform that he believes is based on the fundamental, down-to-the-soil needs and desires of the people. Neither can get him on any other terms.

EAU CLAIRE'S SHARE OF TAX IS DOUBLED

Eau Claire.—Figures on file at the city hall show that in the past five years Eau Claire's share of the county tax levy has just doubled. In 1915 the county board levied against the city of Eau Claire the sum of $62,921.99. In 1919 the assessment was $128,051.63. These figures do not include the state levy against the city nor the soldiers' bonus levy of 1919.

The rate of increase has varied from $8,000 to $10,000 but the increase in 1919 over 1918 was over $30,000.

COMPENSATION AWARDED FOR LOSS OF AN EYE

Marquette.—Herlan Scheldt of Thunder Mountain, has been awarded a compensation of $1,514.42 from the town of Stevenson, by the state industrial commission due to the loss of an eye due to an accidental shooting. Scheldt was employed grading a road for the town at the time of the accident. He was struck in the eye by a shot fired at a target. The town of Stephenson disclaimed responsibility on the ground that he was not injured while on duty.

ALL THE ALLIED NATIONS WON THE WAR, HAIG AVERS

BRITISH GENERAL SAYS BRIGHTEST MOMENT OF WAR WAS WHEN YANKS STARTED ACROSS

(By Frank W. Rostock)

London.—"Remember this is not to be an interview," said Lord Douglas Haig, field marshal of the British army, when we sat down to chat in his office in the Horse Guards, Whitehall.

"However," I will answer a few questions," he added, after I had intimidated the nature of the subject I wished to discuss with him.

Sir Douglas was the only officer I met at the Horse Guards who did not wear a uniform. His appearance in civilian dress was far different than I had thought it would be. He looked the statesman rather than the soldier.

I had learned to picture Haig as another Foch—a grim warrior, stern, cold, unbending, dour and military.

But the Haig who talked to me in such an informal, friendly manner, was a different man altogether. Briefly I should describe him as the kind of a man one would like to have for his father—kind, courteous, patient, pleasant.

When I met Foch in Paris, I felt that I should want to be on his side, because it would not pay to oppose him. When I met Haig, I felt I should like to be on his side because he is the type of leader who attracts by his personality as well as by his ability.

As we chatted, there flitted thru my mind the memory of one of the great crises of the World War, with this quiet, unassuming man, slow and soft of speech, playing the central figure in a great drama which for the moment promised to become a world tragedy.

"There is no other course open for us to do but to fight it out. Every position must be held to the last man; there must be no retirement. With our backs to the wall, and believing in the justice of our cause, each one of us must fight on to the end. The safety of our homes and the freedom of mankind alike depend upon the conduct of each one of us at this critical moment."

Those were the closing words of a message sent by Field Marshal Haig to the British army in France and Flanders on April 11, 1918.

The message was flashed around the world.

It thrilled every believer in the allied cause and resulted in a quickening of war activities in all allied countries.

It stiffened the British defense.

One hundred and six German divisions were being hurled against the British lines. The German goal was the separation of the French and English armies and the capture of the channel ports.

Haig's men held, until re-enforcements came, and stopped the German rush.

What, in your opinion, was the darkest moment of the war?" I asked Haig.

"There were several dark moments," he replied. "Those which caused me the most concern came at the time of the first battle of the Marne, when the Germans seemed on the verge of taking Paris, and in April, 1918, when the German aim was a separation of the British and French armies, and the destruction of the British army."

"What was the brightest moment of the war?" I then asked of him.

"There will always be a difference of opinion about that," he answered. "But I shall always remember the brightest moment of the war as that in which General Pershing came to us. When I shook Pershing's hand, I knew that we could not lose. I pictured the steady flow of American troops across the Atlantic. The coming of America meant that we surely would win the war, that victory was only a matter of time."

In England there still is a great deal of discussion as to who won the war. This also is true in France. The average Englishman says America came too late, that the war already had been won.

"Who won the war?"

I put it up to Haig.

"That question can be answered very simply, was his quick reply. 'It was won by the people of the allied nations. Every soldier and every civilian who did his bit, deserves credit. It was not won by any one or two nations. The valued cooperation of all was necessary.'"

Field Marshal Haig plans to take a vacation, perhaps in France and Switzerland.

"When I return I shall try to find something to do which will advance the interests of my country," was his closing remark.

Haig plans to write a book on the war of a historical nature. One of his books, "Cavalry Studies" is regarded as invaluable by army men.

His chief form of recreation is golf and Mrs. Haig is his opponent as well as companion on many of his expeditions around the links.

MAY SOLVE MYSTERY MURDER AT KENOSHA

Kenosha.—Mystery in the murder of Martin Dugan, Russian, slain here March 29, 1919, is believed to have been solved by the arrest in Los Angeles, Cal., of a man, giving the name of Robert Smith.

Kenosha police on Wednesday were notified by Los Angeles police that Smith had made statements, which led them to believe that he could throw light on the mystery. Records of the case will be forwarded to Los Angeles by Kenosha officials. Smith and a woman, Mrs. Mary Raskoff were arrested together.

Dugan was found slain in front of a saloon.

Little Hope of Relief For Victims of Catarrh

Unless Old-Time, Obsolete Treatment Is Discarded.

Doubtless during the mild summer months you have enjoyed some relief from the disease, because there is always less inflammation of the membranes during the summer, but do not make the mistake of thinking that your Catarrh is gone, for the very first raw, damp, wintry day, the delicate linings of the membranes will begin to again become irritated and sore, the air passages will begin to clog up, and soon you will find that your old enemy is still with you, with a fiendish intention of making the winter as full of discomfort as ever.

What are you going to do about it? If you have had the disease for any length of time, the chances are that you have used enough local remedies to convince you that there is no cure for you in this method of treatment. Are you going to drag through another winter hawking and spitting and spraying constantly in an effort to unclog the stopped up air passages so that you can get your breath for awhile, knowing that these accumulations will immediately reappear—or are you going to discard this makeshift treatment, and use a little intelligence in an effort to get rid of this dis-

You must accept the teachings of science, which shows that to get rid of any disease, you must treat it at its source, you must direct your efforts toward removing its cause, instead of being satisfied with slight temporary relief from its symptoms. You must root out from your blood the millions of tiny germs which cause Catarrh, so that there can be no more inflammation of the nose and throat, and choked up nasal passages that make breathing difficult and painful.

S.S.S., the fine old blood remedy, has given splendid results in the treatment of Catarrh, and you will be delighted with its effect on your case. It so purifies and cleanses the blood, that disease germs are eradicated, hence when the germs of your Catarrh are eliminated from the blood, you are on the right road to a permanent riddance from the disease. Go to your drug store, and get a bottle of S.S.S. to day and begin the real rational treatment that will give real results.

If you will write our medical department, we will take pleasure in giving instructions regarding the treatment of your own particular case. Address Chief Medical Adviser, 15 Swift Laboratory, Atlanta, Ga.

Thousands Respond to Government Plea in H. C. L. Attack

Grain Corporation Sale of High Grade, Low Priced Flour Proves Success

Home cooks by the thousands are reporting unqualified success and satisfaction in their use of government flour which is being offered by dealers throughout the country, co-operating with the Government in combating extravagance and high living costs.

The economical housewife has grasped the opportunity to save 20 to 40 per cent in buying this pure wheat flour, and millers are beginning to produce it in competition with the Government.

In many communities retailers' stocks have been depleted as fast as shipments were received. A car shortage has interfered materially with the distribution of the flour, but it is now available to every retailer in the country who is willing to co-operate with the Government and save money for his customers.

FUR COATS OF ALL SHADES AND DESCRIPTIONS POPULAR HERE

Little Matter of H. C. O. L. Cuts No Figure When Milady Sets Her Eyes and Mind and Furry Vestment

They are all wearing fur coats this year. Appleton this year experienced its greatest demand for fur coats, the high prices notwithstanding. A fur coat covers a multitude of sons.

According to Appleton business houses dealing in fur coats, the sale this winter was larger than ever before. Fur coats were equally popular all over the country, they said. A casual investigation at a downtown street corner bears out the previous statement. Coats of a variety, which formerly were conspicuous because of their scarcity on the street, now are as numerous as any other kind. A traveling salesman who stopped here a short time ago stood on the same corner and after a short wait there, decided "that there are more fur coats in Appleton than any city of its size in the state."

It is not only the rich and well-to-do who can afford this luxury, but even the "poor working girl." Apropos of this, read the following monologue of a stenographer who earns $80 a month, and to which we are an interested listener.

"I'm mad. I wanted to buy a fur coat this year, and mama wouldn't let me. It was the swellest fur coat—only $250. I don't see why I can't have it. I've got the money. There you are."

"Fur coats were high in price this year, but will be double and perhaps more," said I. Kiss, Appleton furrier. "We sold more fur coats this year than ever before. Hudson seal was perhaps the most popular."

"The difference between Hudson seal and the other seal coats?" Well, most Hudson seals, so called, are not Hudson seal. The fur is gotten from the muskrat.

"Raccoon coats, marmot coats, and monkey fur, are also popular."

An indication of the advance in prices of fur was shown by Mr. Kiss' statement that eighteen years ago he had paid for extra quality muskrat, the very best, nine cents. The last quotation showed a mark of $6.25, a 7,000 per cent increase.

A similar story was told by C. E. Mullen of the Geenen company. Prices were high he said, but not much higher than costs of a different variety, which is perhaps a reason for the large sale.

The same statements were made regarding the demand by a representative of the Pettibone-Peabody company. "We sold every variety of fur coat this year," she said.

"Hudson seal and mink were the most expensive. The prices were high this year, and undoubtedly will be higher next year."

Mrs. S. L. Budd spent a few days of last week at Iowa visiting her daughter, Mrs. C. L. Booth and family.

L. A. Eick was in Appleton on business Monday.

Mrs. H. H. Coley was called to Medford Saturday by the death of her nephew.

G. L. Maas of Black Creek was in the village on business Monday.

William Koepke was in Appleton Wednesday attending the County convention of the Equity society.

C. W. Snigler and E. A. Darling were in Appleton Wednesday attending the annual stock holders' meeting of the Four Wheel Drive company.

A. F. Witthuhn was in New London Saturday on business.

Mrs. Louis Locke was an Oskosh visitor Friday.

Tom Peep is confined to the house this week with a cold. Ernest Hissman is delivering in his place for the Lumber company.

Henry Witthuhn had the misfortune to break his arm in two places Tuesday. He was placing a belt on his gasoline engine when his arm was caught between the belt and pulley. Both bones in the forearm were broken. He was taken to the Deaconess hospital at Green Bay where the fracture was reduced. X-ray pictures were taken of the break to be sure that the bones were properly set.

Dale Coley returned Monday from Hollister where he has been employed in the woods. He reports the snow as being very deep.

AMERICAN "INVASION" WORRIES THE LONDONERS

London—"What'll we do with the American invasion?"

The British government, the London dailies and the hotel associations are all agitating this important question.

The "invasion" expected is the 200,000 or more "wealthy tourists" who are coming to England and the battlefields this year and next.

Hotels in London are always full—so it's a problem.

The British say that providing for these Americans, who want to come over, means restoring to some of its value the British pound, nominally worth $4.86 and now worth a dollar or so less.

The conservative London dailies say that the Americans, if they can be accommodated, will spend about $200,000,000 in England.

So, they advise the Britisher who has given up his home to move into a hotel because of restrictions and the difficulty of heating, to go home again if he knows what's good for him.

The hotel proprietors are holding meetings about it every week or two and the government is considering what can be done to provide ample accommodations.

CROWNART BEGINS REVISION OF STATUTES

Madison—Charles L. Crownhart began his duties as revisor for the statutes of Wisconsin today. The appointment was made over a month ago by the justice of the supreme court and the attorney general acting as the board of trustees to make the appointment. Arthur F. Beletz who for the past four years has been acting as assistant revisor of statutes resigned some time ago. Mr. Crownhart said on Monday that no immediate appointment would be made to fill the position.

MASONS AT KENOSHA USE DARNELL CHURCH

Kenosha, Wis.—Another interesting episode in the history of the Summons Memorial Unitarian church, Kenosha, the church which was being served by the Rev. James M. Darnell, "Marrying Parson," when he was arrested on charges of violating the Mann act was enacted on Saturday when the Kenosha lodge of Masons had a "moving party" to prepare the church to become the new Masonic temple.

The church has never been opened for religious services since the key was turned in the door the Monday morning after the "marrying parson" had preached his last sermon here.

The Masons will use the building only until plans can be completed for the erection of a new Masonic temple, as their old home has been purchased recently by the Kenosha lodge of Odd-fellows.

REORGANIZATION OF BANK IS COMPLETED

Manitowoc—Reorganization of the First National bank has been completed and M. R. Dempsey was elected president; F. T. Zentner, vice president; J. B. Greenfield, vice president and cashier; Ernest L. Pleuss, assistant cashier. The board of directors has been increased to thirteen and the bank quarters are to be greatly enlarged. The stock was increased to $200,000 and the Teltgen interest purchased by the new owners.

TIME IS NEEDED TO FINISH FOOD PROBE

La Crosse—That weeks and possibly months will be required to complete the federal grand jury investigation of the high cost of living, in progress here, is the declaration of United States District Attorney A. C. Wolf. Wholesalers, jobbers and retailers from all parts of the state are being summoned. The meat probe started a week ago and is still in progress.

WAUPACA COUNTY HIGHWAY COMMISSIONER IS DEAD

Clintonville—Charles Knudson of this city died at a hospital in Chicago following an operation. Mr. Knudson had been highway commissioner of Waupaca county for a number of years. He was on the program for the road school at Madison, but was unable to be present. It is feared that his death may interfere with extensive road improvement plans that had been arranged for the coming summer.

WAS AFRAID TO EAT SHE SAYS

For Years Had Suffered After Every Meal—But Digestion Is Perfect Now.

"If I could speak with everybody personally who has stomach trouble I would urge them to take Tan-lac. I have tried it myself and know what it will do," said Mrs. Jennie Miller, residing at 748 28th street, Milwaukee, recently.

"At the time I began taking Tan-lac," she continued, "I had not been able to eat a meal in five or six years without suffering afterwards. Even the lightest and most easily digested foods would sour my stomach, causing gas and intense pain. This gas would often press on my heart until I could scarcely breathe and I would often just roll on the floor in agony thinking each breath would be the last. I had raging headaches and was so dizzy at times that I could hardly stand up. My food would sour almost as soon as I had eaten it and I had gotten to where I was simply afraid to eat on account of the misery it caused me. I remember how disappointed I always felt at Thanksgiving and Christmas times because I could not eat and enjoy these occasions like other people. Many a night I have stayed awake for hours in such pain that I could not sleep. For two or three days after a severe attack of this acute indigestion I would hurt all over as if I had been beaten with a stick."

"After seeing Tan-lac so highly recommended by people right around me here in Milwaukee I made up my mind to see if it would help me. too. Well, it has not only helped me, it has made me feel like an entirely different person. Why, all my stomach misery left me with the first bottle and I was soon eating just anything and everything without the least bad effects afterwards. I have taken six bottles of Tan-lac now and without a backward, I will be able to enjoy my first Christmas dinner in five or six years, for my stomach is in excellent condition and my appetite is fine. Why, I can get up at night and eat mince pie and cheese without the least fear of it hurting me. I can never praise Tan-lac enough for what it has done for me."

Tan-lac is sold in Appleton by John E. Voigt, in Black Creek by Arthur A. Geri, in South Kaukauna by Kaukauna Drug Co., in Kaukauna by Henry G. Brauer, in Seymour by S. G. McCord, and in Hortonville by Edwin G. Gitter.

Fanchon-Marco Revue
What is undoubtedly the smartest most artistically staged and most alluringly beautiful of all the revues of the present season concerning the Appleton Theatre Feb. 12 when Fanchon and Marco give their celebrated revue "Let's Go" speed, sophistication and the highest artistry mark every number on the bill.

Fanchon and Marco themselves are vaudeville stars of the most shimmering luster whose advent on the legitimate stage is a happening of real importance. The company was organized and the play produced, in San Francisco with an opulence and elaboration hitherto unknown outside Manhattan and is now on its way to New York for a run stopping only at the larger cities enroute. Everywhere the piece has been seen it has been enthusiastically praised.

The stars are surrounded by a splendid company and a beauty chorus of extraordinary loveliness and talent.

"Let's Go" is a sequence of artistic vaudeville specialties given by some of the best dancers, singers and other artists in the entire country.

GROCERS PROTEST SALE TO EMPLOYEES

Xeniah, Wis.—Retail grocers here have voiced a vigorous protest against the action taken by several leading industrial plants in buying carload lots of staple groceries and selling them direct to their employees. These methods are regarded in the light of unfair competition by the grocers who claim they are selling goods on the narrowest margin possible.

ISAAR CHILD DIES AS A RESULT OF BURNS

Isaac—Mr. and Mrs. Will Greb and children, John and Elmore, of Seymour, spent Sunday at the Frank Snell home.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Gilmmer are the happy parents of a baby girl.

Alfred Hlansep is home from Green Bay.

Miss Adeline Gehrend spent the week end with friends at Seymour.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Meyer and children left last week for Manitowoc where they will reside.

The fourteen month old baby of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Leinsmeyer died Friday at their home. The child was playing with fire Thursday while the mother was out of the house. The baby's clothes were ignited, and she was quite badly burned before the mother entered. The funeral was held Saturday from St. Sebastian church with the Rev. Father Huselme in charge.

A number of friends gathered at the home of Louis Reis Sunday evening. The evening was spent in games and dancing.

TWO YEARS FOR TAKING EFFECTS OF ROOM-MATE

Manitowoc—John Van Benson, colored, is a man of his word. He admits it himself. Recently when released from the house of correction, he told the other inmates he would never return. Today Van Benson was in court for appropriating his room-mate's personal effects. The judge sentenced him to two years in the house of correction. His attorney pleaded that breaking of his vow would be "embarrassing" to Van Benson. John smilingly acquiesced when the judge obliged him by making it two years in state prison.

PNEUMONIA CLAIMS MEMBER OF ALEXIANS

Oshkosh, Wis.—Brother Herman Nester, member of the Roman Catholic Order of Alexian Brothers, died at the Alexian Brothers' hospital here, Tuesday after a brief illness of pneumonia. He was 30 years old and his home was at Muscatine, Iowa. His father, John T. Nester, Muscatine, was here when the end came. The young man had been in the order for six years and was here two years acting as a nurse at the hospital. The funeral will be Friday and the provincial head of the order, Brother Alexius Jansen, Chicago, will be here for the services at the hospital chapel.

MANITOWOC COUNTY BUSINESS MAN DIES

Manitowoc, Wis.—Thomas Dewane, aged 50, well known farmer, business man and banker of Manitowoc county, is dead at his home at Coopers-town. He was president of the Maribel State Bank and one of its founders. Born in the county, he had always made his home here. He was married 16 years ago to Mary Powers, the wife who with seven children survives him. Five brothers and a number of sisters also survive.

PROPERTY VALUES SHOW INCREASE AT NEENAH

Neenah, Wis.—During the last ten years the assessed valuation of this city has increased from $3,784,208 to $8,938,388, according to figures announced here. Within that length of time the city has succeeded in reducing its bonded indebtedness from $148,580.52 to approximately $91,000 and will have a cash surplus above the amount of outstanding bonds amounting to approximately $20,000. In 1910 the city had a floating indebtedness of $14,000 while at the present time there is no unpaid borrowed money.

The collar is once again firmly established in fashion.

APPLETON MAN DELAYED ON TRIP TO SOUTH AMERICA

George Peotter, who left for South America during the month of October, reached his destination during the Christmas holidays according to a letter which has just been received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Horman Peotter, 1112 Lawrence street. Owing to strikes in the east he was unable to get a boat until the last of November and spent the intervening time at New York and Philadelphia. His destination was Georgetown, British Guiana, where he is in the employ of a British syndicate, the business of which is a secret and has not even been revealed to his parents. He was in South America at the time the war broke out, but was called home to join Company G of which he was a member.

North Bangor Congregational College at Bangor, England, has only recently admitted its first woman student.

Alaska's mineral output in 1919 amounted to $18,850,000, smaller than any year since 1910.

Ford

THE UNIVERSAL CAR

Don't Depend on Spring Deliveries

SPRING deliveries of Ford cars have never been certain, and they should not be depended upon. Demand has always been greater for Ford cars than the supply or production. So, if you would be sure of having a Ford car, buy it now while deliveries are possible. Don't wait—even next month is an uncertainty.

Only a limited, specified number of cars has been allotted to this territory. That allotment cannot be increased, because the demand all over the country is greater than the supply or production. Get your order in now, and you will be one of those who is sure of a Ford car out of our allotment.

It's first come—first served. All orders are filled in rotation. So, if you would be forehanded, if you would be certain of having a Ford car when you want it—then you will buy a Ford car now. A signed order with us is your protection. It is the result of the wisdom of looking ahead.

If you buy a Ford car now, don't think you have to "store" it. The Ford is a car made to serve its owner for pleasure throughout the entire year. Ford owners have long since come to recognize the fact. It is no longer popular to "lay-up" your car for the winter. Buy a Ford car now, and use it now.

MEXICANS WANT TO ELECT CIVILIAN TO THE PRESIDENCY

CARRANZA WILL NOT GO BACK ON HIS PROMISE NOT TO BE A CANDIDATE FOR RE-ELECTION

(By Dr. J. A. Watts.)

San Antonio, Texas.—There is a rising tide of sentiment in Mexico for the election next July of civilian for president. This tide may sweep into the presidential chair as Carranza's successor the present Mexican ambassador in Washington, Ignacio Bonillas.

Authoritative sources of all kinds in Mexico omit this prediction freely.

From a man enjoying confidential relations with President Carranza I learned that the president has no intention of going back on his statement of last spring to a special correspondent for the Post-Crescent that he would not be a candidate for re-election. The constitution that Carranza wrote prohibits a president enjoying more than one term and Carranza has been true to the basic constitutional mandates.

First candidates mentioned to succeed Carranza were Generals Gonzales and Obregon. A few weeks ago these military chiefs tried to resign to devote themselves wholly to their respective campaigns. Carranza refused to accept their resignations. In so doing Carranza was merely voicing the sentiment of the people.

There are three groups in Mexico. First in importance is the 80 percent of common, non-military, peace-loving people who feel that the success of representative government and the republic lies in electing a strictly civilian president next summer. Then comes the military party, composed of those in the army and their political allies. Lastly there is the small, but active group of disgruntled business men and disappointed politicians who have been interfered with by the revolution.

For a time it was thought that only a general as president could maintain order in Mexico. But sentiment for internal peace has grown so rapidly in recent months that the bulk of the political talk is for a civilian for president.

Carranza felt that in case he permitted Generals Obregon and Gonzales to engage in a bitter presidential campaign they might forget the welfare of Mexico and engage in open warfare, since their respective followers, in the main, were soldiers.

It is pretty generally felt that Obregon and Gonzales will support a civilian president and that such a man will soon be able to restore the republic to complete peace.

Ambassador Bonillas is the favored civilian candidate, both because of his ability and because of his understanding of the United States. It is felt in Mexico that the republic's progress is dependent to a large extent upon friendly relations being maintained with the United States. Those sincerely interested in restoring internal peace felt that a great deal of misunderstanding between Mexico and the United States could have been avoided had the Mexicans understood the ways of the Americans better.

SIX MEN IN ONE SMALL ROOM ARE ASPHYXIATED

By United Press Leased Wire

Newark, N. J.—Huddled together in two beds and a cot in one small room of a little hotel opposite the Market Street station, the bodies of six men asphyxiated were discovered early today.

Three of the bodies were in one bed, in attitudes of repose, the men having died without waking. Two others lay in a second bed and the sixth man was on a cot.

15 KILLED IN GRADE CROSSING ACCIDENTS IN LAST 3 MONTHS

REPORT TO RAILROAD COMMISSION SHOWS THAT 55 PERSONS WERE HURT IN ACCIDENTS

Madison.—According to the quarterly report of engineering staff of the railroad commission last completed, the steam railroads operating in Wisconsin have reported 33 accidents at grade crossings during the last three months of 1919. These accidents caused the death of 15 persons and the injuring of 55. Of the 33 reported, 23 involved automobiles, with 14 killed and 20 injured. It thus appears that the grade crossing accidents outside of those involving automobiles amounted to but little for that quarter. Among the localities where the engineering staff investigated and made recommendations for greater safety are Avoca, Webster, Osceola, Danbury, Manitowish, Marinette, Rhinelander, town of Hendron, Whitewater, Camp Douglas, Madison, Milwaukee, town of Baldwin, Kaukauna, Appleton, Janesville, Barron and Eau Claire. The Janesville case, which may involve grade separation, grew out of an accident in which a loaded street car was struck by a passenger train.

Railroad Division Engineer Atwood of the railroad commission reports that the new grade crossing engineer has completed his preliminary investigation of the more dangerous grade crossings of the state. The state index of the engineering department of the commission shows that there are in round numbers 9,500 grade crossings in Wisconsin. Approximately 500 of these have been taken care of by the grade separation, warning devices, or the removal of obstructions to the view, so that there remains 9,000 yet to be dealt with. The program laid out by the commission in dealing with these is to deal first and immediately with those crossings which are dangerous because of the view of the railroad tracks being obstructed by high banks, brush and trees, or board fences. Already orders have been issued in many of these cases and the removal of view obstruction is now going on. Beyond this it is the purpose to take up crossings in the order of the menace they offer to highway travel, and proceed to reduce to the minimum their dangerous features.

Since the United States assumed control of the Philippine islands the number of lighthouses has been increased from 29 to 151.

SIX MONTHS I COULD NOT WORK

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Made Me Strong and Able to Work—I Recommend It To All My Friends.

Bayonne, N. J.—"I had pains in back and legs so that I could not stand caused by female trouble. I felt so tired all the time, had bad headaches, and for six months I could not work. I was treated by a physician and took other remedies but got no relief. A friend told me about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it has helped me very much. I am well and strong and now able to do my work. I cannot thank you enough and I recommend your medicine to my friends who are sick."—Mrs. SUSIE SACATANSKY, 25 East 17th St., Bayonne, N. J.

It must be admitted by every fair-minded, intelligent person, that a medicine could not live and grow in popularity for over forty years, and today hold a record for such wonderful success as does Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, without possessing great virtues and actual worth. Such medicines must be looked upon and termed both standard and dependable by every thinking person.

Swift & Company

Swift & Company was a favorite topic of conversation last year.

Committees investigated it, commissions attacked it, law makers threatened it, many condemned it.

Presently people began to think about it; began to realize that Swift & Company was performing a necessary service in a big, efficient way; began to wonder whether it could be done as well in any other way.

Read what Swift & Company did last year, and what it meant to you, in the Swift & Company Year Book, just issued.

It's a fascinating narrative—simple facts in simple words. There is one ready for you. Send for it.

KAUKAUNA PEOPLE ARE TAKING PART IN SOCIAL EVENTS

DANCES AND PARTIES GALORE REPORTED FROM ELEGANT CITY—NEWING PREACHES

Kaukauna.—Miss Frieda Boettcher, local teacher, running in the Milwaukee Journal's "Teachers' Tour to Europe" contest, closed her campaign with an entry of 18,500 votes. Up to date this is the largest number of votes secured, by any candidate in the state with the exception of two teachers in the Milwaukee District.

The Congressional Contest will be launched the latter part of the week.

Mrs. John Cleland entertained Friday night, at the home of A. Conkey, for Miss Nellie Poronto of Manawa, who will be married shortly to Harry Conkey. After a theater party at the Bijou, the guests were entertained at a miscellaneous shower. Music and game of hearts were enjoyed by the sixteen guests.

The dancing season is now in full swing in the city. Three dances were held Friday evening. The Kaukauna Eagles danced at the Eagle hall; the Young Ladies' Sodality of the south side, at Elk hall, and Henry Minkibege and Miss Iva Guilfoyle celebrated their birthday anniversaries by entertaining a number of friends at an informal dancing party at Forster hall.

The Rev. A. A. Newing, field secretary for the Deaconess hospital of Green Bay filled the pulpit of Brookway M. E. church Sunday in the absence of the Rev. Mr. Tink.

Miss Dorothy Allan spent the week end at her home in Oshkosh.

Miss Emma Koberman of Forest Junction spent Sunday here as the guest of Miss Hulda Buetow.

Miss Celia Lannoye of Green Bay spent Friday with her sister, Lorraine Mitchell.

Dr. and Mrs. Babcock entertained a few friends at their home on Wisconsin Avenue Friday evening.

Anita Ruby who has been recuperating at her home since submitting to an operation during the holidays, returned to Oberlin College Sunday.

The Masons held their regular meeting Monday evening with work in the F. C. Degree.

THE WOMAN'S RELIEF CORPS did not install the 1920 officers as planned for their regular meeting Friday evening.

Miss Elvira Lindstrom spent Saturday at Oshkosh.

The weekly prayer meeting of Brookway M. E. church will be held at the Epworth Home at seven o'clock Wednesday evening. Choir practice will follow at eight o'clock.

BOY SENTENCED TO MEDICAL EXAMINATION

Racine.—Instead of sentencing a wayward boy, 12 years old, to a term in jail, Judge Burgess of the Juvenile court, today introduced a new wrinkle into court practice here by sentencing the youth to a medical examination.

The judge noticed that the boy had an affliction of the neck which caused his head to bob forward with a jerk. It is thought his conduct may be due to some physical defect that can be cured.

The youth has given his parents much concern, his latest exploit being the theft of $50 from his father. He was picked up late yesterday afternoon at the Northwestern depot where he had bought a ticket for Chicago.

A STRANGE STORY

Told by a Well Known Detroit Man

Detroit, Mich.—"When I was about twenty-three years of age I suffered from a general break-down in health, due to overwork. I was also troubled with catarrh of long standing. To make matters still worse, my lungs became affected and a persistent cough supplanted my vitality. I had left. My appetite became erratic, indigestion resulted and constipation followed. "All my savings," about $300.00, went dribbling, dribbling, in payment for drugs and medical attendance. I consulted some of the leading physicians in St. Louis, and I have every reason to believe they tried to help me, but lacked the skill. "After seven months of suffering when I had given up all hope of ever being well again, my wife asked me if I would try one more combination of remedies, if only to please her. Of course I complied with her wish, at the same time telling her not to expect too much from them. She had me use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, and Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, according to directions, and in spite of the physicians' predictions, in spite of my own doubts and misgivings, I gradually began to feel better. Hope revived—I took a new interest in life. In less than three months these remedies had effected a cure and I have never been troubled with catarrh since. "Whenever I don't feel just right I take a few days' treatment of the 'Golden Medical Discovery.' If my bowels need regulation I take the 'Pleasant Pellets.' The result is always the same—almost immediate relief. Can any sane person blame me for having faith in these remedies? And is it not just natural that I should recommend them to my friends? For thirty years have I used Dr. Pierce's remedies and they have never failed me yet. At the age of fifty-three I have the strength, the agility and the general physical efficiency of a man of thirty-five. If I am enthusiastic in the praise of these remedies it is due to the fact that there is a reason."—HARRY VANDERBURG, 313 Lucid Ave.

FORD AND COUZENS PLAN TO USE GAS DRIVEN STREET CAR

DETROIT IS ASKED TO VOTE HUGENUM TO FINANCE NEW SYSTEM OF CITY TRANSPORTATION

Detroit, Mich.—This is not the time for cities to rush pell-mell into new fare-rate agreements with their street car companies that will bind them hard and fast to increased fares for years to come.

The whole street railway problem in American cities may be completely revolutionized as the result of an experiment that is to be tried here in Detroit within the next few weeks. Henry Ford and James Couzens, mayor of Detroit, are the geniuses back of a plan to build a system of municipally-owned lines and operate gasoline-propelled cars over them.

Ford has worked out the mechanical details, while Couzens has looked after the financing.

Other cities can well afford to await the outcome of the Ford-Couzens experiment. By so doing they may save themselves millions of dollars and insure themselves more satisfactory service.

Ford and Couzens are not idle dreamers. Ford is a mechanical genius and Couzens is one of the country's most successful business men. They've never yet fallen down on a proposition they've tackled.

In my own mind," Couzens said, "I am convinced that Henry Ford has found a way to give our people better and more reliable street car service, at a reduced cost. Just as he has solved the problems of cheaper motor transportation and cheaper power for farmers, I believe he has solved our street railway problems.

At least, some forward-looking men of Detroit have so much confidence in his plan we are asking the voters, on April 5, to approve a bond issue of $15,000,000 with which to build a municipal system that will be operated exclusively with Ford gasoline-propelled cars.

Like many another American city, Detroit has led a cat and dog existence with its street car company. Because of the long drawn out row, the company has refused to extend its lines to keep pace with Detroit's marvelous growth. The city has gained about 600,000 population since 1910 while the street car system is hardly adequate for a city of half a million instead of one of nearly a million.

Couzens' plan has two main objects: 1. To give good street car service to vast stretches of Detroit territory that the present company refuses to tap. 2. To bring about a situation where the company will be forced to sell out to the city.

Here's how he proposes to do these two things: With the $15,000,000 that he expects the people to vote for the municipally-owned system, he will construct 163 miles of track into territory where the people have no car lines.

Then, backed by a decision of the Supreme Court of the United States, he will condemn and take over and join up with the municipal system 55 miles of track, including the two main street car arteries now owned and operated by the company.

Franchises have expired on these lines and under the court decision the city may condemn and buy at a figure that represents cost to the company, less depreciation.

In this way, for $40,000 a mile, he expects to buy lines that would now cost $70,000 a mile to construct. Couzens will not ask the people to vote more than $15,000,000 for municipal ownership, no matter what the system may eventually cost.

The first $15,000,000 of bonds is to be a lien on the general tax duplicate, the same as any other municipal bonds.

After that money is spent, if he needs more he will issue more bonds.

UNCLE SAM OFFERS FLOUR AT GREATLY REDUCED PRICE

Excellent Flour for Sale by U. S. Corporation at One Third Less Than Normal Prices

Washington—When bread consumers get tired of paying from 8 to 9 cents a pound for flour, they can buy it from Uncle Sam for from 6 to 7 cents. Only for this act of making bread in the homes would soon become a lost art.

Both white and whole wheat flour is now selling retail in most parts of the country for around 9 cents a pound. This makes it a waste of time and fuel for the housewives to bake bread, when they can buy it at 10 cents a loaf. The strange thing about the whole situation is, the housewives are more particular about the kind of flour they use than they are about the kind of bread.

This is shown by the fact that wheat for the high patent flours has gone up, despite the government's offer of millions of barrels of good flour 33 1-3 per cent below the regular retail market.

At that there are many consumers who are taking advantage of the U. S. Grain Corporation's offer. "Our campaign of placing lower-priced flours through the retail trade is demonstrating that there is a section of our people desirous of the practice of thrift," declared Julius H. Barnes, wheat director.

In fact, thrift may become as contagious as extravagance has been. The flour offered by the government is called "U. S. Grain Corporation Standard Pure Wheat Flour." It is made from unbleached, well-dressed and properly milled, clean, sound wheat. Most of it is soft winter wheat, but may be blended.

and make them a lien on the utility itself. Then municipal ownership advocates in Detroit have another idea. It originated with Frederick F. Ingram.

When a street car line is built in new territory, property jumps in value and very often enormous profits go into the pockets of real estate speculators.

"We propose to condemn and buy all property for a certain distance on each side of a new street car line," said Ingram.

"Then we'll turn around and sell the property to the highest bidder; and the city, and not real estate speculators, will reap the profits that result from the building of the city-owned line."

Couzens proposes that a straight 5-cent fare with universal transfers shall be charged on the municipally-owned, gasoline-propelled street cars.

He figures that a little more than 1 cent of this will be clear profit, but instead of giving the people a 4-cent fare, he will put the cent profit into a sinking fund and eventually pay off the $15,000,000 bond issue.

With his own lines once in operation, Couzens has visions of the company being more than willing, within a very short time, to sell out its entire holdings to the city at a "cost less depreciation" price.

VANDERLIP WANTS TRUTH ABOUT WORLD CONDITIONS

FAMOUS FINANCIER ASSERTS AMERICAN PEOPLE ARE ENTITLED TO KNOW WHAT IS OCCURRING

By H. P. Burton
New York—Making the assertion that we are at the present moment in the midst of a great crisis, a crisis in which whole nations are hungry and many people literally starving, in Europe, and in which that form of human cooperation known as capitalism might, in countries where revolution occurred, be temporarily supplanted by virulent proletarian autocracy, Frank A. Vanderlip, noted American financier, today demanded that the American people ask their government to make a full and authoritative statement on this world condition.

"People immediately will ask, coming to realize this state of world affairs, why we do not check it," said Vanderlip, "but how can we proceed to check it, when we have not even had the problem authoritatively stated? I insist, therefore, that we, as a nation, should ask our government to state this problem at once and state it authoritatively, and then we can logically proceed with a solution."

"There is little to justify, I think, anyone's saying that all Europe needs is to be let alone to work out her own salvation."

"I have read with acute attention the statement of Secretary of the treasury Glass to the effect that if anarchy is to be averted in Austria, Poland and Armenia we must loan at once $150,000,000 to these starving countries, that food is also imperatively needed in different parts of Italy, Czechoslovakia and Hungary, and that the United States alone has the supplies needed to stave off the deaths of these nations."

"People are dying there by hundreds right now. In Austria there are six and a half million people and it is stated that all the food in the country, unless augmented, will be gone in two weeks."

"Now what do these facts, aside from the horror of them from a humanitarian standpoint, mean to us? These statements are either bunk, and need not concern us, or they constitute what I call the greatest crisis in the world's history."

"Why do these facts involve us so acutely that we should demand that our government immediately uncover the truth? Because hunger, on so large a scale is bound to lead to political revolution. And, as a nation, we cannot help but be profoundly affected by this when so great a portion of civilization is involved."

"Take the first fact—that famine is stalking abroad in these lands—and then add to it the second fact—that great indemnities have been levied by the allies upon these central countries—and we have a perfect seed bed for Bolshevism to breed in."

"If we do not take such steps, either as a nation or as a group of internationally minded business men, then what do you see as the effect of famine and revolution in the parts of Europe affected?" I asked Vanderlip.

"I see the possibility of the building up there of the most despotic tyrannical autocracy we have had in modern history," he answered.

"You mean the downfall of capitalism—that capitalism as a form of human co-operation will be wrecked?" "No, not permanently, at least I'm not prepared to believe that Socialism in practice will ever prove a tenable form of government. I am convinced that concrete Marxism has proved a failure in Russia, and that no sane man will want it continued anywhere it is once tried."

"In fact, I believe that already Lenin has found it a failure and that as a result, he has put into effect in Russia the most pronounced autocracy of modern times, and that what he is now tending toward is a restoration of the capitalistic form of economic life for his nation."

"But let us not forget that there is no form of government, not even the Utopias that seem so perfect on paper, that will minister adequately to the wants of human kind unless man himself tries, with might and main, to keep his spirit inviolate against the intrusions of greed and antagonism; unless we stand always in spirit for FAIR PLAY to all human creatures—until then we can never have a Utopia, and when that time comes, I feel any government will not be far from Utopia."

HIGH COSTS PUT STOP TO BUILDING OF ROADS

Plenty of Money Available in Mississippi Valley States but Material and Labor is Too Costly

By United Press Leased Wire
Chicago—Old Ill Cost has hit Mississippi valley road building a deadly rap, men said here today. Delegates to the conference, here today of the Mississippi valley state highway departments, comprising nine states, declared that the enormous cost of labor and materials will halt road construction for a year or two, although there are plenty of funds available.

The Minnesota delegation reported the Minnesota automobile license fee—now only five dollars—to be raised by constitutional amendment to that of other states. License fees go into the state road fund.

Through routes were urged by Clifford Older, Springfield, Ill., who said that main-traveled roads running through two or more states should be numbered uniformly, to avoid confusion.

Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin, Michigan, Minnesota, Iowa, Nebraska, Missouri and Kansas were represented.

$9,000,000 ESTATE LEFT BY TIMBERLAND OWNER

By United Press Leased Wire
New York—William Hoover Yawkey, owner of timber and mining lands in the west, who died March 5, 1919 at Augusta, Ga., left a gross estate of $9,427,460 and a net estate of $8,983,667, according to the report of the state transfer tax appraiser, filed here. Detroit baseball club stock comprised $113,013 of the estate.

Thomas Austin Yawkey, adopted son and nephew of the testator, of Tarrytown, N. Y., will receive $3,408,650. Mrs. Margaret A. Yawkey, widow receives $750,000.

The Velvet tin is twice as big as shown here

"No Rheumatics" is a Mighty Poor Reason for Wearing a Wooden Leg

NO sting or hot burnin' is a mighty weak-kneed recommendation for tobacco. But when tobacco is mild and cool, and yet as full of "fun" as a barrel of monkeys—well, that's another story—that's Velvet.

And 'cause why? 'Cause Velvet is brought up—not jerked up by the hair. It's raised as carefully as a favorite child. It's cured in the big fresh air. And it mellows away for two years in wooden hogsheads 'til it's smooth and rich as cream. The wonder would be if Velvet wasn't a whacking good pipe smoke.

"Let Nature mellow yo' tobacco an' that tobacco will shore mellow yo' nature," says Velvet Joe. And he's pretty nearly right.

NATURE-AGEING in the wood does more to make tobacco friendly than any camouflage you can cover it with—and don't you forget it. See, taste, smell, feel the "real tobacco" in Velvet. Why, you can almost hear it. Velvet's the tobacco you can judge with your eyes wide open and specs on.

There's a whole lot in Nature's way of making good tobacco better. And it's all in Velvet.

Here's to a full pipe and a friendly one.
